

Textbooks should be replaced by computers and online resources

Now a days students are much more focussed on online classes & online content precisely. For which students can be able to do whole study at home also.

Since last 2 years the whole world get suffered from pandemic. During these critical crucial times all have had to stayed at home. All the students get debarred from their schools. So, all the parents chosen the online resources for their children's studies and daily classes. Thereafter the children and students get stucked into all online platform for their studies and forgot all their reading habits of textbooks. However, the daily things get easier and simpler for the whole things. So, students get their higher education courses from online and get certified by the digitally.

In my opinion textbooks shouldn't be fully replaced by computers and online resources for the children and students whose ages are ranging between 5 to 18 years. So, however the regular use of internet, computers, and online resources their mind get vacant, and they already lost the textbook's ultimate knowledge. They also get suffered from many diseases like eye, ear issues at the early ages of their lives.

But I can say it will be more beneficial for the higher educations of the students and the learners who are not getting any scope for study due to financial issues. They can get the utmost benefits of computers and online resources at their homes. Likewise, all the students and people of different ages get the access of varieties books as well as audiobooks from online resources and read these books digitally with a lesser cost.

For them whose age above 20 years their Textbooks should be replaced by computers and online resources. Its sounds good and authentional.
